Senate-House Group Agrees On Military Pay Russia Told

Boosts Range From 6 To 60%

WASHINGTON (A) - A military pay raise bill designed to make a career in the armed services more attractive was agreed on Wednesday by a Senate - House Conference Committee.

The first year cost of the pay boosts, ranging from 6 per cent to as high as 60 per cent, was placed at $576,400,000. Virtually all military personnel with two years or more of service would

The final draft of the legislation - passed by the Senate and the House in different forms - is in line with President Eisenhower's recommendations for pay raises to keep and attract trained manpower in the armed forces.

Senate Scales Accepted

The conferees accepted the new pay scales provided in the Senate bill. These generally were less generous than those in the House bill, which would have cost 683 million dollars the first year.

The only major change in the Senate bill would permit an increase in retirement benefits for three and four star generals already in retirement. The cost of Rackets Probe

"Heidi" Puts On White House Dog Show

A formal ceremony at the White House yesterday was turned into a hilarious show by President and Mrs. Eisenhower's pet Weimaraner Heidi. Photographers and reporters were lined up as Heidi was led into the room by the First Lady who commented: "I don't know how this is going to work." It didn't. At left, Col. Charles Hamilton, head of Animal Rescue League, tries to league as Mamie tries to hold Heidi back. Then at center as the main participants posed, Heidi's mistress tried to get her to sit down, and finally at right, Heidi leaps to greet Mrs. Henry Gardner, who came to make the pet a life member of the Washington Tailwaggers Club. COMPLETE PROTEIN

... are you sure you're getting all you need?

Complete protein is a "renewing" element in food. Your body must have it—and enough of it—at every meal. Without it, you restrict body-cell replacement, and that tired-out feeling is one result.

So be sure you get enough complete protein at every meal. It's so easy, if you have V10 Protein Bread on the table. Just two slices per meal supplies nearly a fourth of the adult complete protein requirement!

V10 Protein Broad is lean in calories, too. And it's delicious! Try it toasted: you'll make a new friend for breakfast.

V10 protein is complete protein-like that in milk, eggs and meat.

Federal Court Sets Integration Cases

Maryland integration cases reject ed by the State Board of Education, will be heard in Federal Court June 23.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen will hear the suits.

In one case, the parents of a Negro pupil seek an injunction to halt segregation on public school buses in Charles County. Integration has started in some Charles County public schools but the buses are still run on a segregated

Mrs. Gilbert G. Hart contends her 7-year-old son Gilbert Jr. was denied the right to ride the Indian Head Elementary School bus solely because of his race.

The school's offer of segregated transportation violates constitutional rights, the plaintiff contends. In the second case, William Groves of St. Marys County seeks admittance to Great Mills High School for his 13-year-old son. Thomas, and his daughter, Joan.

What About Federal Control Of Rails?

Suppose the Administration's proposals to help the railroads are adopted in large part by Congress and still fail to rescue them from their financial difficulties? Will then direct subsidies be given the roads to keep them from bankruptcy? Or will it come to outright Government operation, perhaps even at the suggestion of the deficit-ridden carriers themselves?

After all, the United States is the only great nation of the world where the whole railroad industry is privately owned and operated (it's part private, part public in Canada). Yet when this country federalized the rails for 26 months during and after World War I, the experiment cost the Treasury $1.1 billion. The figure included $642 million in operating deficit and $305 million because of undermaintenance and for

The roads were federalized because the needful war-time unifications in service would have violated the antitrust laws of the time. During World War II these laws were suspended for certain war activities, so that rail federalization was avoided.

Walker D. Hines, who succeeded Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo as World War I director general of the railroads, was a firm believer in private operation of the railroads. Yet he deposed that the wartime experience was no "sound argument" either against or for government operation. He said it threw "no reliable light" on its "merits or demerits . . . in time

On the one hand, the roads carried unprecedentedly heavy traffic, could rely on experienced rail executives, were patriotically left free of political interference. On the other hand, the heavy routing of empty freight cars west from Atlantic seaports was unremunerative, costs of everything, including labor, skyrocketed, yet compensating rate increases were postponed until the roads were back in private hands.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Bill Knowland

Undoubtedly the most spectacular campaign this year will be the nomination and election of Senator will then drop from 52 to 47 per William F. Knowland as Governor of California. Senator Knowland is the leader of the Republican Party in the United States Senate. He could have been renominated and re-elected to the Senate. He deliberately declined the sure thing and chose to risk himself for the Governorship of his state.

Against him are already gathering mighty forces, particularly the professional labor barons who earn their livings out of the work of other men. They object to Knowland because he has supported the American Right-to-Work doctrine which is as fundamental as free speech, namely, that no man and no group of men may enter into a conspiracy to prevent other human beings from earning a living. The Right-to-Work doctrine is basic in American life, going back to the earliest Colonial days, before alien influences subordinated American thinking to one form or another of Marxian enslavement of the individual to the prevailing forces in society.

It has been suggested that Senator Knowland would have been a smarter politician had he not advocated the Right-to-Work doctrine until after he had been elected Governor. Then the labor barons might not have poured millions of dollars into California to effectuate his defeat. He treats such politician's proposals with contempt, as Senator Robert A. Taft did. A man must be honest with himself and if the price of being elected is to be a liar, Knowland rejects the

His opposition has already developed a normal A.D.A. campaign which is to produce no arguments against Knowland's character or fitness, but to repeat endlessly the unprovable statement that he cannot be elected. This, no one can know until after an election actually has taken place, for the will of the people is not expressed in polls or in estimates but in the voting booth where secrecy and truth prevail.

Bill Knowland is obstinate in another regard. He is still a United States Senator and the Republican leader of the Senate and he takes his responsibilities seriously. Therèfore, he refuses to neglect his duties in the Senate while he is running for office in California. He flies to California for weekend campaigning but back to Washington as long as Congress is in session. This is an old-fashioned sense of responsibility, but it is very refreshing in an era when the word, duty, seems to have lost all meaning.

However, his charming wife, Helen, is on the circuit, campaigning for her husband which is always a graceful thing to do. I am told that Helen Knowland is a brilliant speaker and that Senator Knowland's daughters also appear at meetings. Thus, a family has been mobilized for civic duty and responsibility.

The Republican Party needs the kind of leadership that Senator Knowland has given it. It is responsible leadership which some men call conservative, but which, in fact, is a revolt against opportunism, against the betrayal of the American tradition of personal freedom and freedom of opportunity by those who advocate statism in any guise. Senator Knowland was quite young when Senator Robert A. Taft selected Knowland as his successor to the leadership. As the years passed, it was obvious that Taft's insight into the man's character was indeed precise.

One of the greatest issues to face the American people during the next decade will be the division of powers and authorities between the Federal Government in Washington and the 48 states. The encroachment of the Federal Government upon the states since 1933 has been beyond belief. The current Supreme Court, presided over by Chief Justice Earl Warren, seems bent upon destroying the authority of the states altogether. Utilizing its taxing power, the Federal Government takes so much of the earned income of the people out of each state as to leave the states without adequate revenue to perform their proper local functions.

Under our Constitution and our system of government, this course can only lead to a chaos approaching anarchy. It is therefore necessary for each state to elect a strong Governor, a man of uncompromising character, who will protect the dignity of his state and the rights of his people.

Those who know him well and who have followed his record in the Senate believe that Senator Knowland

"The Willys-Overland people are pulling an end run," groused Assistant Secretary Higgins to Congressman Harry Sheppard of California and George Mahon of Texas, when he learned that the new Willys-Overland jeep was going to be shown to members of the House subcommittee.

"On the contrary," exploded Congressman Sheppard, "I understand that you have been given every opportunity to see this new Willys jeep and that you won't even allow it a parking place at the Pentagon.

Sheppard and Mahon made it clear that they were going to take a look at the new jeep developed by Willys at no expense to the Army. They had learned that the Army had paid Ford to develop a new jeep at the same time the Willys Company had come up with a jeep at no extra expense which is 1,000 pounds lighter than the wartime jeep, has a platform body which can be folded to one side and is admirably adapted for landing by parachute.

want to look very carefully at the new Willys jeep before they vote this money for Ford.

The above is one reason Congressmen are loath to pass the new Presidential reorganization of the Pentagon. They have seen too many cases in which funds were spent with the big corporations to the detriment of smaller companies which can do the job as well or better. Sixty per cent of all Defense Department orders now go to only 100 American companies

Congressmen also remember that it was ex-Congressman Ross Collins of Mississippi who practically had to beat the Army over the head to make them acquire modern tanks. Even after Collins inserted enough money in the Army's appropriation bill to buy six new Christie tanks, the Army wouldn't use the money. Finally Collins brought the tanks to Washington and paraded them up Pennsylvania Avenue to shame the Army. It was only then the Army began working on new tanks

Irish Notes Mayor Wagner of New York and those who pioneered on the first Irish Airlines flight had a great time in the Emerald Isle last week after they got over their forced sojourn in Newfoundland. . . . As they were about to debark at Shannon, the Irish stewardess announced, "Passengers will deplane in the following order. First, the Lord Mayor of New York. . ." From that point on, Mayor Wagner, whose father was born in Germany, was "the Lord Mayor." His Honor, the Lord Mayor, with Mrs. Wagner, visited beautiful Lake of Glendalough where, according to Irish legend. St. Kevin was pursued by the wily and wicked Kathleen and where he reproved and reproached her to such extent that she eventually fell into the lake. The Lord Mayor embraced the pedestal of the Cross of St. Kevin. You get your wish if you can reach around it. Mayor Wagner did. He did not reveal whether his wish was to be the next Senator from New York. . . . Premier De Valera, now 76 years old, told how he was born on the present

The Irish, he said, don't want to use force to bring about the unification of Northern Ireland. "We would be fighting against our own people," he pointed out. "Ireland is fulfilling her destiny in starting this airline across the Atlantic," said the Prime Minister.

"I remember the time," remarked Charles Yarborough of the Washington Star, "when Scotty was selling classified ads for the Des Moines Register-Tribune."... The Irish don't particularly fancy McLeod. They remember him as the great witch hunter of the Mc-Carthy era. The Irish may go in for leprechauns but they don't like witches . . . promotion of superhighways, which the Irish don't want, etc. One such highway would go from Shannon to Dublin, bypassing Limerick. The Irish Foreign Office intimates McLeod's a comedown from Taft and Garrett. Mc-Leod goes to the pub near the Embassy to throw darts and make like one of the boys. He senses his time is running out, and is reported to be promoting himself a job with the Swiss watch cartel. He became acquainted with the Swiss watch industrialists while in charge of the refugee program-used to go over for the International Migratory Committee meetings with Congressman Walter of Pennsylvania. Dublin is a choice Embassy-most inexpensive, with a big staff of servants. The next appointee may be a career man. There was much career indignation when McLeod was appointed.

Drifting Toward A Major Tax Reduction Plan

Reluctantly, unhappily, belatedly, the Eisenhower Administration now seems likely to drift into acceptance of a major tax cut, almost for want of anything better to do.

The evidence for this forecast is largely circumstantial and atmospheric. But it is nonetheless rather convincing. Taking the items in order, there are the circumstances, first of all, that will make action to cut taxes decidedly difficult to avoid.

Some sort of tax bill must be offered this year, for the quite simple reason that some of the Korean-war-born taxes reach their automatic cut-off point on June 30. Unless legislative action is taken, the corporate profits tax cent; the automobile excise tax will be cut in half, and a whole series of other excises will also be reduced, including those on liquor and tobacco. A revenue loss of about three billion will be the result.

As a practical matter, the Congress will never permit these important reliefs to business withcut offering at least equal tax cuts to the mass of voters. Thus the Eisenhower Administration's wait-and-see approach to the tax problem will cease to be feasible by about the end of this month. Instead of continuing to say they are going to wait and see, the President and his advisors are going to have to say either "Cut taxes!" or "Don't cut taxes!" In either case, a bill will have to go through Congress. And even if the decision is to maintain existing tax levels, certain reductions will be almost unavoidable. With the automobile industry still By Joseph Alsop there will be a tremendous drive to drop the auto excise tax. Again, the plight of the railroads is grave, and there will be another powerful drive to drop the present taxes on passenger tickets and freight charges, even although they do not expire this

These practical considerations are bound to influence the White House and the Treasury. Then, too, while the Administration is being pushed toward the decision, the atmosphere in which the decision will be taken is also wor-big, confidence-destroying receiverships, especially in the railroad industry. Another such factor is the prospect that the unemployment total will surge upwards toward 6 million, again tending to destroy confidence, when the college year ends in For all these reasons, although the White House and Treasury still quite plainly do not want a tax cut if they can possibly avoid it, the drift toward the tax cut is growing stronger by the day. The President himself has indicated that a tax cut is the best economic stimulant must be given. Thus he will find it very hard to fight the drift, if a sudden business upturn does not unexpectedly rescue him.

Meanwhile, unhappily, the stimulant is also losing effectiveness. For as Dr. Burns has said, a tax cut "is only a good device to fight a mild recession while confidence is still strong."

The least the mother can do is to put the pin at a safe distance from the child's hand.

HEAT FOR ARTHRITIS F. D. writes: Are hot baths good for arthritis of the hips? REPLY

Yes, because heat relaxes the tissues, improves circulation, and promotes healing. Heat is heat, regardless of the source. The difference is in penetration. Hot water, for example, is not as effective along this line as short wave or ultrasonic therapy but is adequate for arthritis of the hip because heat reaches the surrounding area from all directions.

Baseball attendance is down in this town that so deliriously took the Braves to its heart and pocketbook during the frustrating years when their hairy-necked heroes were struggling to get to The Braves finally made it last fall, beat out the Dodgers for the pennant and then knocked over the Yankee cartel in a wonderful World Series-the most exciting since the brothers Dean bullwhipped the Tigers for the Gas House Gang in 1934. Still, there were misgivings. A lot of experts. some serving without benefit of official badges found only in accredited Crackerjack boxes, swore that success was the worst possible blunder which could befall the Braves from a business standpoint. They are now cackling, "I told you so," as they point to the early attendance returns.

It's a little early, The Cassandres remind an old baseball writer of an 8-column streamer in a Cleveland newspaper of 20 and more years ago which proclaimed, a week or two after the season opened, Get Mad Steve O'Neill And Stay Mad, Or Else

Steve was the manager of a Cleveland team that had stumbled off to an uncertain start, and he wasn't openly penitent enough to suit that particular writer.

The people who believe that the Braves, having achieved success, will never again draw 2,215,404as they did last year-tend to slough off the fact that they have played only five games at home, and four of these were in bad weather. They would also prefer to overlook the fact that a great man named Warren Spahn has started four games, finished four, won four. And that Lew Burdette will come around as soon as his pores open.

They would prefer to believe that the bloom is off the peach and the Milwaukee fan who only last October was outraged by being called "bush" (though he actually wasn't) is now a jaded sophisticate who asks, as he flicks the ash off a cigar, "Yes, yes, that was fine last year, boys, but what have you done for me

Perhaps there's a vestige of validity in their doubt. The San Francisco Giants won't be as much of an attraction here this season as they were when disguised as the New York Giants for the simple reason that it isn't as much fun in these parts seeing a team beaten that doesn't have "New York" spelled out across the chest. Also, if the Los Angeles Dodgers were grossly capitalizing on their ridiculous left field screen there might be reason for the Milwaukee fans to burgeon forth to see them get their licks in a legitimate ballpark such as County Stadium. But the reverse has generally been true. The enemy is making more use of O'Malley's Chinese Theater than the incumbents. So, the contention is that attendance at Braves-Dodgers games will fall off, too. We'll see. As of now the Braves have been drawing so poorly that they are hardly ahead of the Yankees, and the drawing power of the Yankees at home (100,500 at last count) is deemed deplorable when you consider that they are the only wheel left in what once was a great big wonderful

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:

Last summer my camera was staten, had $440 medical expenses from a boating accident, and a $3000 liability suit for injuries to the others involved—none of these losses covered by my insurance. Is it wise to have one local agent make a survey of all my risks and the insurance.

We'd like a chance to do YOU a favor

We'd like to help you with your lubrication problems, regardless of how small you think they are. Helping farmers solve these problems has been our business in this area for over 25 years.

Of course, our job is made a lot easier by all the research and production men of the Shell Oil Company. Their experience and "know-how" put real quality into the petroleum products we sell.

Shell Spirax EP, for example, is a premium multi-purpose gear lubricant. There's no better all-purpose grease than Shell Retinax A, nor a better all-purpose oil than Shell Rotella Oil at any price. And for top performance from your diesel, we recommend Shell Dieseline.

So give us a call and give us a chance to work with you.

Area Plants Send Safety Men To Meet

Sessions Today In Baltimore

Three members of the safety staff of area industrial plants will attend the two-day Governor's Safety-Health Conference which opens today in Baltimore.

They are Virgil D. Eackles, assistant supervisor of safety and plant protection at the Amcelle plant, Arthur C. Howard, safety director at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, and Benjamin R. Lewis, safety engineer at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto.

Registration will be held today at 9 a.m. at the Lord Baltimore Hotel with the general opening session slated 45 minutes later at which time a word of welcome will be extended by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin

General chairman of the conference is Joseph F. DiDomenico, commissioner, Department of Labor and Industry. Various sessions will touch on occupational accident prevention, highway traffic safety, industrial nursing occupational health, visual safety, fire prevention, public employe, petroleum, chemical-ferti lizer, labor, and home-school safety.

Learny Start On

In an appropriate program booklet prepared for the conference, Governor McKeldin says in Grass Burning a letter to fellow citizens their assistance is needed to "help in which to live, work and play."

Eight Hub Caps Taken From Cars

Within the past several days. local police have received their share of complaints of breaking and entering and theft.

As City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van put it, "on of our major complaints" has been reports of hub caps being stolen-eight of which have been removed from parked cars.

A breaking and entering and larceny was reported by Raymond McDonald, 723 Gephart Drive, who said someone removed a small window pane from a door, entered the house, went into the living room and cut the telephone with 20 feet of cord from the wall. Also carried away was a brown portable General Electric radio. The items were valued at $50.
